MENTORING FUTURE ENTREPRENEURS

ABOUT YOUTHPRENEUR

Entrepreneurship is a dynamic and critical element of the global economy, fostering innovation, economic growth, and job creation. To cultivate a culture of innovation and equip the next generation with essential life skills, it is imperative to introduce entrepreneurship education at an early age. Teaching entrepreneurship and mentoring young kids has potential benefits to both individuals and society.

Young minds are curious and always open to explore ideas and exposing them to entrepreneurial knowledge can encourage them to think outside of the box, solve real world problems creatively and to employ critical thinking.

Encouraging young kids to explore entrepreneurship helps build self-confidence and resilience and hone other fundamental skills like communication and teamwork.

Entrepreneurship can also provide them an alternative in this rapidly changing world and uncertainties of the future. If their chosen career path may not work, at least they have started to develop the skills needed to pivot.
